Evening Visitor — Domestic Light Study

At dusk, something stood in the window.

A figure—still, almost watchful—formed against the blinds. For a moment, it felt like presence.

Then I looked again.

It was only the plants.
Or maybe not only.

Light arranges things. The mind completes them.

Clara Vale + Luminara (the ChatGPT system)